He quietly gathered his effects together, teft Wednesday night, and where he is no one knows, and from the facts surrounding the cause of his absence, it is not probable anyone in Charlotte will be any where for some time to come.

There is a woman in the case, as usual, and also a little boy. In 1852 he married for this third wif. Mrs. Fidelia Northrup, nee Johnson. They ilved together in this city, where he was a successful clothing merchant. He accumulated about $15,000, and to all appearances nothing ever marred their counulated about $15,000, and to all appearances nothing ever marred their counulated about $15,000, and to all appearances nothing ever marred their counulated about $15,000, and to all appearances. In 1888 they moved to Denver, where he engaged in business. Fortune did not assile upon him and the evil spirit of discord crossed the three-hold of their domicile, resulting in a separation, and Mr. Green returned to Charlotte, where he re-engaged in business, the firm name being Green & Lavertry. After his return to Charlotte, Mrs. Green procured a divorce in the Denver courts, to which proceedings he put in no appearance. A son had been born unto them, who was 7 or 8 years old and who is the cause of Mr. Green's present disappearance.

A year ago he met Mrs. Green in Chicago, per agreement, and took the boy home with him, to Charlotte. After she had procured her divorce, she made a demand for the child. Instead of sending the boy to his mother, he sent him away and succeeded in concealing his whereabouts from Mrs. Green.

A short time ago Mr. Green made ap-

Green.

A short time ago Mr. Green made application in the probate court here for the appointment of a guardian for the youngster, which was stubbornly fought by the mother. The evidence on both aides was highly scraational, the names of domestics and prominent people being associated in a decidedly unsavory way. Mr. Green was on the witness stand, and when Mrs. Green's attorney asked: "Where is Eric?" the court promptly adjourned until yesterday morning.

morning.

The question now is, "where is Josh?"
When the case was called yesterday morning, Mr. Green's art rneys made a motion to discontinue the case, declaring they had received a letter from their client dated at Jackson the previous night, saying that he was going east and that he had his son with him. The court reserved its decision until next Tuesday. Mrs. Green declares that she will not give up her boy so easily and that she will institute a search.

Mr. Green was at one time an alderman and treasurer of this city, and has many friends. During the present week he sold his interest in the clothing bus-iness to his partner, and no doubt he is now many miles from Charlotte.

Happenings at Hart.

Hart, Feb. 19.—Prospects are unusually bright and cheering for the future prosperity of Hart. Both saw mills and the handle factory are being stocked with logs to their fullest capacity, besides it is reported on pretty good authority that the Argus, Oceana's only prohibition organ, is about to give up the ghost and be united with the Journal as a red-hot republican newspaper. Sleighing is good and coasting is the principal amusement.

Pentwater is justly proud of the mammoth new hotel being erected there to cost $75,000. It will, when completed, have a frontage of 150 feet three stories high on Hancock atreet and four stories facing the west, and overlooking the lake, of which it will command a beautiful view. A tower on the northeast corner of the structure will enable guests to watch the sailing of vessels far out on the bine waters of the lake and give them a wide range of vision over the country. Hiram Hill, a respected resident of Novi, while laboring under a sit of temporary mashity, committed suicide in a shocking manner before the eyes of his aged father. Being left alone in a room for a moment he locked the door and cut his throat and then juriped out of the second story window, his father arriving in time to lift up the lifelies and bleeding body.
